

Customer Notes and Feedback

Team Corellians - March 1, 2021

Rishabh Prasad, Matthew Landry, Anupras Burokas

- Navigation should be much Shallower
  - Rather than clicking through many pages, the user should be able to scroll to the information that they are looking for rather than having to go through many different pages.
- Header
  - A shallow image is required so that it does not take up too much space on the screen.
  - They want to be able to switch it out as something that can bring attention to big events and what they would like to promote.
  - We don't necessarily need photos for every page
- Site maps
  - They enjoyed the second proposed example.
  - They wanted the blog and social media aspect to be moved from the 'About Us' section and added to the home page instead.
- Home Page
  - Desktop: They preferred the middle option
    - The header included a smaller banner and the information was displayed in sections which are stacked. This is because this also transfers well to the mobile view

- Mobile: They also like how the middle option on the presentation carried over for the mobile view
- Membership Page
  - Desktop: Unsure but they enjoyed both the First and Second options which followed the same theme as the home page in displaying information horizontally, stretching the length of the page.
  - Mobile: They enjoy the first option presented as the information was stacked
- Careers page
  - They enjoyed the second option but made a comment to possibly add an accordion for the additional information rather than having to navigate to another page, for both mobile and desktop.
  - They enjoyed having important information highlighted in the listing such as: Company name, location, the title of the position and whether it is full time or part time.
  - Company Logos in the image placeholder
