CERTIFICATION

Professional certification gives you the opportunity to demonstrate your knowledge and expertise, and provide evidence of your outstanding abilities.

It will help you stand out to employers so you can elevate your career and keep your skills fresh and applicable.

Achieving certification shows that a candidate has professional competence in six core principles that are the building blocks of their work, including ethics, strategy, analysis, context, engagement and consistency.

CERTIFICATION OPTIONS

The Global Communication Certification Council (GCC®) currently offers two levels of certification: Communication Management Professional and Strategic Communication Management Professional.

COMMUNICATION MANAGEMENT PROFESSIONAL (CMP)

For people established in their careers as communication managers and looking to demonstrate their competence.

STRATEGIC COMMUNICATION MANAGEMENT PROFESSIONAL (SCMP)

For highly skilled business communicators practiced in providing strategic communication advice and counseling to an organization's leadership.

CERTIFICATION PROCESS

1. APPLY FOR CERTIFICATION

The application asks applicants to describe their education, training and experience, along with supporting documentation.

The GCCC will assess and verify applicants' skills, knowledge and experience. Candidates will be notified within 30 days if they are approved to proceed with the exam.

If the application isn't approved, the candidate will be notified and asked to provide the required information.

2. PREPARE FOR EXAM

The exam is in multiple-choice format and is conducted in English only. Exam questions are based on the following key areas and the associated knowledge that's required for effective performance as a communication professional.

Approved candidates have two years from the date of their application to write and pass the exam. If the candidate is not successful, he/she can retake the exam within the two years.

3. WRITE THE EXAM

Approved candidates have two years from the date of their application to write and pass the exam. If the candidate is not successful, he/she can retake the exam within the two years.

4. MAINTAIN CERTIFICATION

Individuals maintain their certification through annual continuing education (e.g. professional reading, attending recognized training or courses related to communication, mentoring, etc.).

March 4, 2021

7 PM - 8:30 PM

Speakers:

Jacquelyn Cardinal

Hunter Cardinal

Description:

In this hour-long webinar, participants will develop an introductory understanding of land and treaty acknowledgements in Canada. To form that understanding, Naheyawin will explore the origins of this kind of acknowledgement, the nature of national and local discourse surrounding the topic, their stance on the practice, and will discuss what the future of these acknowledgements might be in generations to come. All participants at any level of education and exposure to Indigenous ideas and history are welcome to join.

MEET OUR TEAM

Jennifer Arends - President

Jennifer leads a team of skilled and creative communications professionals as the Executive Director of Communications and Stakeholder Relations at 3sHealth.

Jennifer is passionate about collaboration and teamwork, and she works hard to build strong relationships with partner organization's across the health system.

Since childhood, Jennifer Arends has had a deep love for reading and writing. She holds a Master of Arts in English, a Master's Certificate of Administration in leadership, Saskatchewan Healthcare Management System and Saskatchewan (healthcare) Leadership Program training certificates, and the Accredited Business Communicator (ABC) designation from the International Association of Business Communicators.

Outside of work, you will most likely find her paddling, skiing, rock climbing, spinning some vinyl, or attending a hockey game with her partner and children.

Joanne Kozlowski - Past President

My involvement with IABC Regina started when I first moved to the Queen City 20 years ago. As a young communication professional, that volunteer experience introduced me to a wealth of resources and networks to build my career. I am happy to return for my third term on the board and excited for the opportunity to continue to strengthen our IABC Community.

My passion is strategy development, identifying opportunities and finding solutions to organizational challenges. My career path has taken me from the non-profit sector to the university setting and, currently, municipal government. Outside of work, when I'm not travelling, you can usually find me at one of Regina's many great local restaurants.

Trilby Henderson - VP, Technology
